

Lifting Equipment Workshop Engineer

About The Role

Based in East London on a day-day basis you will be required to maintain, inspect and repair all equipment within our fleet. Your duties will include finding and capturing equipment damage and keeping accurate and comprehensive service and maintenance records.

Working alongside colleagues, you will be a great team player and take pride in your workplace and working environment, making sure that high standards are maintained whilst complying with company procedures and processes. Communicating effectively, ensuring that you're Line Manager and Customers are kept informed as and when required.

We are looking for candidates who are motivated and keen to learn about our specialist products and build their industry knowledge, along with:

- Repair of various types of Lifting Equipment
- Inspection and testing of Lifting equipment in accordance with Loler regulations
- High standards of housekeeping within the workplace ensuring a safe working environment
- Set hours with overtime provided if needed.

About You

If you join the team, we will provide you with everything you need to ensure you are equipped for success. We'll talk to you about your training and personal development needs and what you'd like to do to further your career and support your future aspirations.

To succeed in this role you will bring the following skill-set and behaviours:

- Able to work as part of a Team, supporting colleagues.
- Flexible and self-motivated, you will be keen to embrace new training opportunities.
- Great communication skills – both verbal and written
- Customer-Focused with a commitment to delivering an excellent service.
- Effective planning and organisation skills with strong attention to detail and accuracy
- Previous experience is essential.

About Us

Lifting Gear UK Group is a part of the Axel Johnson International Group of companies and has 12 strategically located depots across England and Scotland, from Glasgow in the north to Bridgwater and London in the south. Lifting Gear UK originated in Leyland, Preston and are the largest privately owned lifting equipment provider in the UK, not only focusing on equipment hire, but also providing product sales and services such as heavy lifting projects, contract lifting and bespoke design and fabrication. Our success and strong growth can be attributed to our solid product knowledge and outstanding customer base.

Our people are at the very heart of our values and our greatest asset. Join us and we'll give you the training and support throughout your career with Lifting Gear UK

Excellent Salary and benefits for the right candidate. Hours of work 7.30am till 5.00pm

